Business EDGE Institutes Corporate Stimulus Package: Calling All CEO's to Action

Who is stepping up to the table? Read below to have a world renowned business and technology leader come to YOUR Company and fix your projects problems for FREE!

Miami Beach, FL, October 3, 2008: If you are a CEO and you are stepping up to help companies grow in this economic time, then we want to talk to you! You alongside the CEO of Business EDGE, Mary Ann McIlraith can be featured in the Top Business Journal.

Every corporation needs to step up. We have to work together during this globally challenging time; to grow and come together even stronger.

Every company needs to implement a stimulus package and Business EDGE is the first to do it. "I am putting my money where my mouth is." says CEO Mary Ann McIlraith.

I am going to select one company to go onsite and do a full one day sponsorship and leadership training for IT and business project implementation improvement for FREE. You will be awarded a full day of training for an unlimited amount of people in your organization for no charge. This company will be provided with a maturity model for business and IT organizations. I guarantee that with these tools and techniques, your employees will be empowered and have greater clarity while saving a minimum of 10% of their budget. Check out our case study on our client a Global Biomedical Firm. <http://www.maximum-potential.com/mpicasestudybiomedical.pdf>. They slashed budgets by 75% this year, they supported the same projects and delivered the new projects; all during the economic challenges.

Business EDGE's 2nd initiative to help: All information is private, highly classified and confidential.

I am looking for the most challenged project in the world right now. I guarantee to do one on-site workshop and six coaching calls with me personally; I will turn things around and improve your projects hardships. BUT be ready to make the hard decisions when I come back with the recommendations. Don't shut the window when opportunity knocks! You have my word that I will come to your company and help for a full day free and I guarantee that you will see a HUGE difference. Submit your confidential requests to me personally at maryann@businessedg.com
